Garden Mums

POT PLANTS . . . CUT FLOWERS . . . FALL SALES

A number of garden chrysanthemum varieties can be grown as spring flowering pot plants. Planting, pinching, lighting and shading dates determine the flowering dates. The cuttings used should be thrifty and disease free and from lighted stock plants.

To Flower For	Plant	Light	Shade	Pinch
Mother's Day	Feb. 25	Feb. 25-Mar. 3	March 15	March 18
Decoration Day	Mar. 18	Mar. 18-Mar. 24	March 24	April 8

Hardy garden chrysanthemums when grown as spring flowering plants are in a class by themselves and are coming into popular demand because of their earlier normal blooming season. With the home owner the plants may, after flowering, be divided and transplanted to the garden where they will again afford a fall crop of flowers.

According to competent authorities, the following varieties are recommended to be grown as pot plants:

WHITE	PINK	YELLOW	BRONZE & RED
Calcite	Sept. Cheer	Pomponette	Elite Cushion
White Cloud	Myrtle Walgreen	Ming	Remembrance
Pepita	Joybringer	Moonlight	Mona
Classic	Major Cushion	Lee Powell	ORCHID
Silverplate	Mrs. P. S. DuPont	Yellow Spoon	Jewell
	Serenade	James Stewart	Spellbound
		Lemonade	Lavender Lady
		Chiquita

As a cutflower item with florists, garden varieties afford loads of flowers when planted closely in beds, where no shading is necessary. Varieties suited to this purpose include a wide range of types, especially the taller, long-stemmed sorts.

No doubt the greatest demand with the grower of hardy mums is for blooming plants during the fall season. With the host of colors available, the long flowering season after most other border plants are out of bloom, they fill a definite need in the home garden. A generous planting will attract many visitors who usually are ready buyers, cash and carry.

Plants dug and potted from the blocks in advance of advertised 'Open-house Days' make for quick and easily handled sales. The Cushions and other short growing varieties are well suited to this purpose, although those of medium height are needed in supplying demands. Any left-over plants may be stored for sale the following spring as dormant plants.

Firms catering to local plant trade during the spring season may develop the rooted cuttings in small pots or in pony packs for customer selections. Such cuttings will bloom the first year in the garden.
